Child Sexual Exploitation
Strategy 2017 - 2019
Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board’s strategic commitment to tackle child sexual exploitation

April 2017

Building upon the CSE Strategy 2015-17, WSCB is committed to developing knowledge of the prevalence of Child Sexual Exploitation across the county and building a robust strategic framework to tackle the problem and keep children safe. This strategy sets out how multi-agency partners will work together to develop a robust multi-agency response to safeguard children and young people at risk of sexual exploitation.
For new word

This strategy sets out the ongoing commitment of Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board (WSCB) to build on work undertaken thus far to tackle child sexual exploitation (CSE), and to safeguard children and young people experiencing and/or at risk of this form of child abuse. WSCB acknowledges that this is a very complex and challenging area of our work and that it is only possible to tackle CSE through a co-ordinated multi-agency approach, where victims/potential victims are identified and safeguarded and perpetrators are disrupted and prosecuted.

This strategy has been written to support, and be supported by, the West Midlands Safeguarding Children Procedures and the Worcestershire Levels of Need (Thresholds) Guidance. When practitioners become aware of children who are affected by, or at risk of, sexual exploitation they have a duty to comply with the West Midlands Safeguarding Children Procedures:

The strategy outlines WSCB’s strategic principles as the basis for its approach in tackling CSE. It also states its key priorities under the four main headings of Leadership and Governance; Prevention and Early Intervention; Protection and Support; and Pursue and Prosecute. An action plan to deliver the key target areas for each of those priorities is included, and the delivery of this will be closely monitored and reported to WSCB. All partners share ownership of and take responsibility for the effectiveness of its outcomes and will measure the difference it makes in tackling CSE in Worcestershire

1. Introduction

This document outlines the Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board (WSCB) strategy for preventing, identifying and responding to child sexual exploitation (CSE). It has been informed by the existing regional CSE problem profile (August 2015) and has drawn on evidence about effective practice from national and local research, policy and guidance.

This strategy should be read in the context of the significant work already undertaken by partner agencies across Worcestershire in developing the local operational response to CSE. This work has helped improve the understanding of the types of exploitation impacting across the county and has included:

- The establishment of a strategic group to drive the Strategy which has now been elevated to the status of a formal sub group of the Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board
- An operational CSE and Missing Group to coordinate the local response to this issue and facilitate information sharing in respect of individual vulnerable young people
- The establishment of a dedicated CSE team within West Mercia Police
- The creation of two CSE co-ordinator posts within Worcestershire children’s social care services
- WSCB delivering multi-agency training on CSE to all Worcestershire schools
- The development of the Whole Schools Approach to Healthy Relationships for delivery in Worcestershire schools
- The commissioning by the Police and Crime Commissioner of Young Solutions to raise CSE awareness amongst private hire drivers and hotel establishments within the county.
- The development of the ‘Tell Someone’ communications strategy by West Mercia Police
- PCC funding for two Barnardos workers located within the Police CSE Team to work directly with young people
- CSE e-learning courses completed by 262 practitioners during 2016/17
- CSE Headline Events delivered by WSCB to 280 practitioners in October and November 2016
- CSE awareness raising events delivered to 40 new safeguarding leads during 2016/17
- The circulation of a CSE self-assessment tool to partner agencies by the Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board

Through this strategy the Worcestershire Safeguarding Children Board seeks to develop locally a prevention, protection and investigation strategy to

- identify those at risk of being sexually exploited
- take action to safeguard and promote the welfare of particular children and young people who are being, or may be, sexually exploited,
• Take action against those intent on abusing and exploiting children and young people in this way.

2. Aim of the strategy

The CSE strategy and its accompanying action plan outlines the steps that will be taken to realise WSCB’s strategic vision.

The overarching aim of the strategy is to promote a culture in which nobody tolerates or ignores CSE, and where professionals and communities understand what is required to identify and protect children and young people from sexual exploitation.

3. Vision for Worcestershire

• All children and young people understand what constitutes sexual exploitation, recognise when they or others are at risk of this form of abuse and are confident to seek support.
• All children and young people are supported to develop healthy friendships and relationships.
• Children and young people who are particularly vulnerable to child sexual exploitation are identified and supported by their families/carers, professionals, and their community to build resilience against exploitation.
• Children and young people who are being sexually exploited are identified, safeguarded, and supported for as long as they need.
• Professionals, local businesses, families, carers, and local people can identify the signs of exploitation and know what to do with that information
• Those who seek to exploit children are identified, disrupted and convicted.
• Robust offender management post-conviction and/or effective intervention strategies reduce the risk presented by identified abusers.
4. Definition

The definition of child sexual exploitation is:

'Child sexual exploitation is a form of child sexual abuse. It occurs where an individual or group takes advantage of an imbalance of power to coerce, manipulate or deceive a child or young person under the age of 18 into sexual activity (a) in exchange for something the victim needs or wants, and/or (b) for the financial advantage or increased status of the perpetrator or facilitator. The victim may have been sexually exploited even if the activity appears consensual. Child sexual exploitation does not always involve physical contact; it can occur through the use of technology.'

Child sexual exploitation: definition and a guide for practitioners, local leaders and decision makers working to protect children from child sexual exploitation, DFE, 2017

Child sexual exploitation is a form of child abuse.

There is not one type of victim or one type of perpetrator of sexual exploitation. CSE can take many forms in many settings. To focus on just one model, such as group or gang CSE, risks missing other victims who do not fall into that category. There is also a risk that victims will not recognise their abuse as CSE because it doesn’t fit a particular model.

5. National Context

"The Government deplores the sexual exploitation of children, and will not tolerate failure at any level to prevent harm....."

"Tackling child sexual exploitation must be a shared effort. Government can lead the national response. Local authorities, police, children’s and health services have a statutory duty to work together to identify and stamp it out in their area."

"Dealing with Child Sexual Exploitation" (2015)

Child Sexual Exploitation has taken centre stage in the public consciousness – through reviews such as Rotherham and Oxfordshire; and the national lessons they have brought. What Rotherham, in particular, has shown is the need to have a truly transparent and honest debate about the strength of our responses and the openness to challenge each other to ensure we are drawing on the full capacity and expertise across all partner agencies to respond to this agenda in a coordinated and effective way.

The Rotherham review by Louise Casey has shown the importance of having a truly holistic and multi-disciplinary response if the victims of CSE are to be seen and truly heard and the perpetrators brought to justice. Whilst we are in no doubt that CSE is abuse and children must be protected by all means possible, the lessons from the Casey Review also highlighted the limitations of a traditional child protection response in protecting children who are being sexually exploited. We know that vulnerable children need to be able to build trusting relationships and not become isolated from their peers, families and local communities. Simply moving children away or taking them into care of the local authority, thus removing them from potential protective factors in their families, can increase their vulnerabilities. It is critical therefore that we counter their isolation at every step possible, using all means at our disposal.

Recent national reviews have also demonstrated the challenges in engaging victims of CSE. Many may feel too ashamed at what has happened to them to come forward, but may also be unable or unwilling to see themselves as victims in the first instance. In Worcestershire we recognise these challenges and so will put our efforts into identifying the extent to which our most vulnerable children and young people are at risk of CSE in order to develop strategies to protect them.

4. Local Context

Child sexual exploitation is not exclusive to any single community, race or religion. There is no culture in which sexual abuse is not a serious crime

(HM Government, 2015:4)

The identification, prevention and response to child sexual exploitation and children who go missing is a strategic priority for WSCB in 2017/18.

This strategy aims to be responsive to local need and this section outlines what is currently known about CSE in Worcestershire. The information included in this section is intended to set the broad context for the current strategy. This information should, however, be treated with caution as it is likely that profiles will change over time as our knowledge increases.

Over the last 12 months the number of contacts and referrals made to children’s social care where a young person was identified as being at risk of child sexual exploitation increased by 60% on the previous year. This increase is thought to reflect the impact of two new CSE Co-ordinators whose role includes the raising of public awareness of sexual exploitation, and the implementation of the CSE triage process in June 2016 at the Family Front Door.

Changes to data collection by children’s social care now enables a distinction between children vulnerable to sexual exploitation and children experiencing sexual exploitation. During the six months September 2016 - March 2017 there were 24 children identified as victims of CSE in Worcestershire, of whom 71% were female and 29% male. During the same period 342 children had been identified as being at risk of CSE of whom 74% were female and 26% were male. For both groups the most prevalent age ranges were 11-15 years (42% and 44% respectively) and 16+ years (33% and 49% respectively). Most of these children (at risk of or experiencing sexual exploitation) are known to children’s social care and are not in education, employment or training. There has also been a link established with risk of CSE and being known to the Child and Adolescent Mental Health Service (CAMHS). Sexting (the sending of indecent images of self to others) tends to be an activity identified with a slightly younger age group (11-14 years) and is more evenly split between males and females.

There is a clear link between children going missing and the risk of sexual exploitation. Worcestershire is able to identify those schools from where children go missing most frequently. There is also close monitoring of the care homes and other placements from where looked after children go missing. This information builds a profile of vulnerability and has triggered specific pieces of work with individual schools or care providers.

The most prolific type of sexual exploitation identified in Worcestershire to date has been the 'boyfriend' model where young males aged between 17-25 years target younger females with a view to developing a relationship which the victim sees as a consensual relationship, at least initially. This strategy recognises, however, that there is a gap in available data to support the development of our understanding of different models of CSE and on which to build an informed response. This gap needs to be addressed as a priority. Work is in progress to be achieved by Autumn 2017.

6. Strategic Principles

This strategy fully supports and accepts as our own principles the four points set out in Louise Casey’s report ‘Reflections on Child Sexual Exploitation’ (March 2015), these being:

That CSE is child abuse and is a crime, and our efforts need to be directed towards perpetrators in order to detect, prevent and disrupt that abuse at the earliest stages as well as the prosecution of individual perpetrators to ensure that they face the full force of the criminal justice system for their crimes. These are not mutually exclusive activities.

That the victims are children, however they present themselves. They cannot consent to their abuse, all the more given that grooming itself removes any real sense of self determination from these children. There should be no scenarios in which victims are viewed as young women or as making choices.

Thirdly that CSE is squarely a community safety issue and local government working with police and others need to make use of community safety tactics and action to keep children safe. The regulatory and enforcement functions of the local authority are vital in preventing and disrupting CSE and in building intelligence which can help with prosecutions. Those in upper tier authorities and district authorities where responsibilities for children’s social care and community safety lie in different tiers, have additional partnership challenges, but these cannot be insurmountable.

Finally, that local government and the police should not fear seeking out and shining a light on sexual exploitation for fear they may be held to account for what they find.
The failure is not in the existence of CSE but in not recognising it and taking appropriate action.

WSCB’s aim is to deliver an effective system and infrastructure to address sexual exploitation across the children’s partnership underpinned by the following principles:

- CSE is a form of child abuse which can involve the sexual, physical and emotional abuse of children as well as neglect
- Children do not make informed choices to enter into or remain within sexually exploitative situations, as they do so via coercion, manipulation, grooming and/or other forms of enticement
- Children under 16 years cannot consent to sexual activity with an adult, and sexual intercourse with a child aged less than 13 years is statutory rape
- Children who are sexually exploited will experience difficulty and/or confusion around their autonomy to make choices, and their understanding around sex, sexuality and the sexual activity into which they have been coerced
- Sexually exploited children must be treated as victims of child abuse, and not as offenders
- Help and support to families should be tailored to their individual needs and circumstances, taking into account sexuality, gender, physical disability or learning disabilities, mental health, those from ethnic communities, and those with additional language needs
- Law enforcement efforts must involve disruption of sexually exploitative activity, and target offenders as sexual abusers, who may be adult, but could also be the child’s peers and/or other young people. CSE is one of those problems where silo working is actively harmful to the protection of children and stopping offenders
- It is essential that the ‘voice of the child’ is heard and agencies actively engage with children and young people to provide them with the opportunity to tell their own story, to seek to understand the child/young person’s perspective, experience and the impact of this upon them.

7. Key Priorities

WSCB understands the need to place this CSE strategy in the context of other plans that influence the safety and wellbeing of children and young people. As such, it is essential that CSE forms part of ongoing dialogue and scrutiny at key strategic forums, including the Police and Crime Panel, Safer Communities Board and Community Safety Partnerships, Health and Wellbeing Board, Children and Young People’s Partnership and Safeguarding Adults Board. This will ensure that there is a coordination of the partnership activity and that everyone is playing their part in dealing with this issue.

Under its four strategic priorities WSCB has identified a relatively small number of critical key targets to be met during 2017-19. It has taken on board feedback from Ofsted and has identified those key targets which will provide the strategic foundations for preventing and responding robustly to Child Sexual Exploitation going forward.

Leadership and Governance

Overarching priority: The focus of this strategic priority is to ensure that there are robust and effective arrangements to understand the profile of CSE in Worcestershire and to coordinate activity to tackle CSE, as well as to evaluate the impact of our collective efforts. Our primary goal is to create a robust governance structure for the oversight of activity to tackle CSE.

Key target areas:

- Update the Worcestershire CSE problem profile to ensure it is current and meaningful and ensure there is a process for reviewing it on a six monthly basis
- Develop the multi-agency dataset to support trend analysis
- Use service user feedback to inform service developments
- Promote practice standards for partner agencies to evaluate their response to concerns about sexual exploitation

Prevention and Early Intervention

Overarching priority: The focus of this strategic priority is to increase the resilience of children and community to the threat of CSE by increasing public awareness and providing information and tools to support the identification of indicators of CSE; providing and publishing agreed models of assessment; and agreed protocols for the effective sharing of information across the multi-agency partnership

Key target areas:

- Maintain a focus on increasing public awareness of CSE through a co-ordinated communications strategy
- Promote the role of schools in raising awareness of CSE across local communities
Protection and Support

Overarching priority: The focus of this strategic priority is to recognise and respond to children who are being sexually exploited as victims of child sexual abuse. This means our response will place responsibility for the abuse with the perpetrator(s). Our primary goal is to ensure that partner agencies work together to provide support to sexually exploited children so they are helped, protected and listened to.

Key target areas:

- Review current systems and protocols for effective information sharing in respect of individual children and young people and processes for multi-agency planning and risk management
- Ensure robust information sharing and risk management is in place for children who are placed in or outside of county
- Develop a pathway for responding to young people aged 18+ who are vulnerable to or experiencing sexual exploitation

Pursue and Prosecute

Overarching priority: The focus of this strategic priority is to ensure a clear focus on the use of a range of disruption techniques and to build the trust and confidence of victims. It also focuses on the targeting and pursuit of offenders to bring them to justice. Our primary goal is to manage the threat and risk posed by perpetrators and to secure justice for, and on behalf of, sexually exploited children.

Key target areas:

- Ensure sustainability of resources to provide ongoing access for 'victims' to care and support to encourage reporting
- Identify perpetrators using regional intelligence, information from all agencies, risk assessing those and targeting the highest harm
- Develop strategies to support criminal justice processes to seek positive outcomes for those identified as simultaneous facilitators and victims of CSE
The Action Plan located in Appendix 2 sets out how these key target areas will be achieved and the timeframe for completion.

7. Governance and Accountability

WSCB has statutory responsibility for co-ordinating and ensuring the effectiveness of safeguarding arrangements in each partner agency and collectively. It will therefore hold partners to account for their individual arrangements and challenge any silo working to ensure children are properly protected from CSE and perpetrators are stopped. Full ownership and responsibility for the effective delivery of this strategy lies with individual agencies and with Board members collectively. More specifically, the Board will continue to:

- ensure that the needs of children and young people who have been or may be sexually exploited, and their families, have been considered when planning and commissioning local services
- provide analysed and reconciled data that is shared with relevant agencies, building a composite picture of CSE in Worcestershire over time
- routinely seek assurance of the effectiveness of the CSE strategy, building its implementation into its operational planning and reporting mechanisms
- undertake regular assessments on the effectiveness of Board partners’ responses to CSE and include the outcomes in its Annual Report
- monitor the sharing of information protocol to ensure this is not a barrier to effective working in CSE cases
- work with other local partnerships to co-ordinate any CSE activity, particularly Community Safety Partnerships
- work with other regional/national groups to develop a co-ordinated approach and learn from best practice
- ensure its governance structure has clear lines of accountability for CSE
- ensure that delivery of the strategy is properly supported
- provide external assurance as appropriate that CSE is being properly tackled and managed in Worcestershire
8. Monitoring and Review

The implementation of this strategy will initially be overseen by the Strategic CSE Group with regular reporting to WSCB. Key measures of its effectiveness will include evidence of:

- Prevention being managed through staff awareness of CSE – knowing how to spot it and taking appropriate action
- Knowledge of the perpetrators and hot-spots
- Responding to CSE victims in a timely and suitable manner to meet their needs and wishes

The strategy will be reviewed bi-annually by WSCB, or updated more frequently if required, to ensure it is making a difference to the children and young people of Worcestershire involved in CSE

CSE self-assessment tool is now available to access on the WSCB website. In April 2018 a letter was circulated to all schools which included the link to the CSE Self-Assessment tool. It was also referenced in the April 2018 edition of the WSCB Newsletter.
The S175/157 Audit completed by schools now asks the question about completion of the CSE Self-Assessment. Just below half of schools (49%) said they had completed the CSE Self-Assessment with 30 schools confirming that they have an action plan in place to address any gaps. |
The CSE Strategic Group took the decision that partners would be asked to repeat the CSE Self-Assessment on a biannual basis, with a request for an assurance statement on action plans to be provided in the intervening years.

Key Priority 2 – Prevention and Early Intervention

Overarching priority: To increase the resilience of children and community to the threat of sexual exploitation by increasing public awareness and providing information and tools to support the identification of indicators of CSE; providing and publishing agreed models of assessment; and agreed protocols for the effective sharing of information across the multi-agency partnership.

Of those that had not used it 89% (58/65) indicated a plan to use it during the following year as part of school's PSHE programme. This response rate was disappointing and did not provide the necessary assurance at that time. In April 2018 a letter was circulated to all schools from the Chair of the CSE Strategic Group asking them to give serious consideration to implementing the WSA to Healthy Relationships under the 'prevention' arm of the CSE Strategy Action Plan. The S175/157 safeguarding audit completed by schools now asks the question about full/partial/non-implementation of the framework. As of October 2018 84% of schools indicated that they will have at least partially implemented the framework by the end of 2018/19 academic year. This provides more robust assurance to WSCB.</td>

Key Priority 3 – Protection and Support

Overarching priority: To recognise and respond to children who are being sexually exploited as victims of sexual abuse. This means our response will place responsibility for the abuse with the perpetrator(s). The primary goal is to ensure that partner agencies work together to provide support to sexually exploited children so they are helped, protected and listened to.

In addition, there have been changes to systems and processes over the last year in respect of the triage process for CSE cases at the FFD and various blockers and barriers have been reported to the CSE Strategic Group by exception. - Systems are in place to identify the most vulnerable children and young people at risk of or suffering from CSE

- Flagging systems respond to changes in risk
- Risks are managed robustly and consistently
- Gaps in service provision are identified
- Trend data is available to inform problem profiling and service development
- Function links to triage and CSE Strategic Group

Ofsted recommendation (2016):

'The Board should strengthen its oversight of the response to CSE practice by ensuring that the operational sub group is represented by all agencies that are able to offer a sufficient level of oversight and analysis'

Models of Grooming and exploitation

Grooming

Grooming may take place face to face and can occur over a long period of time or relatively quickly. Grooming using the internet and mobile technology is increasingly common. Along with the significant risk in the use of mobile phones, including Bluetooth technology, perpetrators target children and young people through online sites, games and through picture messaging and texting.

Child sexual exploitation can occur in a variety of settings and may involve one or more person. Barnados has identified three different sexual exploitation abuse models. Examples of quotes from young people are also included below.

Abuse model 1

Inappropriate Relationships

This usually involves one abuser who has inappropriate power – physical, emotional or financial - or control over a young person. The young person may believe that they have a genuine friendship or loving relationship with the abuser.

Abuse model 2

Boyfriend model and Peer exploitation, also known as party model

The abuser grooms the victim by striking up a normal relationship with them, giving them gifts and meeting in cafes/fast food outlets or shopping centres. A seemingly consensual sexual relationship develops but later turns abusive.

Victims are required to attend parties and sleep with multiple men and threatened with violence if they try to seek help. They may also be required to introduce their friends as new victims.

Abuse Model 3

Organised exploitation and trafficking

Young people are passed through networks, possibly over geographical distances, between towns and cities where they may be forced/coerced into sexual activity with multiple men. Often this occurs at ‘sex parties’ and young people who are involved may be used as agents to recruit others into the network. Some of this activity is described as serious organised crime and can involve the organised buying and selling of young people by perpetrators.

Organised exploitation varies from spontaneous networking between groups of perpetrators to more serious organised crime where young people are effectively ‘sold’. These activities are described as ‘internal trafficking’ or ‘trafficking for child sexual exploitation.’

Victims of sexual exploitation may also be used as agents to recruit other children and young people and in some cases a young person may be both a perpetrator and a victim of CSE.

Sexual exploitation can be group and gang associated. Group associated exploitation refers to the number of perpetrators involved.

Gang Associated CSE

Research undertaken by Beckett et al (2012) outlined key features of gang-associated sexual violence and exploitation that are unique to, or exacerbated by, the gang environment:

- Using sex as a means of initiating young people into a gang;
- Sexual activity in return for (perceived) status or protection;
- Young women ‘setting up’ people in other gangs;
- Establishing a relationship with, or feigning sexual interest in, a rival gang member as a means of entrapment; and
- Sexual assault as a weapon in conflict.

Examples of quotes from young people

1. ‘I was 12 maybe a wee bit older, and I remember my mummy run out of drink and she says to me, there was fellas in the house and she says to one of them to take me up the stairs and she got me to go with this man for a bottle of vodka for her.’ (Beckett 2011)

2. ‘There was a guy running parties for sex. What was described to me was someone initially looking after you, taking you out, buying you clothes, looking after you, giving you lots of emotion and care. Then there were parties where other girls were there and it became a going upstairs with one person type of thing, but then it came down to being the only girl with four or five men and it became quite frightening. There was also a separate pornography side to it, and they were getting pulled in to that as well.' (Beckett 2011)

3. ‘We have a young woman at the moment who is Eastern European and was trafficked here and continues to be exploited by people. She lives with her parents but we reckon she is being sold on a regular basis. Well, she says she lives with her parents but we aren’t entirely sure if they are her parents. She is saying she is 17, but we suspect she’s more like 14.’ (Beckett 2011)

4. Sexual exploitation that involves one or multiple perpetrators who are themselves gang associated and where the CSE takes place as a form of introduction or inter-gang related violence. (Office of Children's Commissioner 2012)
